The Friends of the Mayor's Commission on Women invite you to join some of Lincoln's most respected citizens!

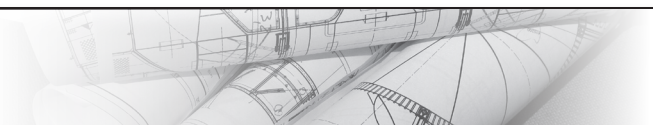

What's happened to Friends?

In the fall of 2007, the Mayor of Lincoln, Chris Beutler, formed the Mayor's Commission on Women because there is a continuing need in our community for women's voices to be heard. The current Commission consists of 15 women and men who advise the Mayor and his office on issues that pertain to women and families in Lincoln. The Friends of the Lincoln-Lancaster Women's Commission has now become the Friends of the Mayor's Commission on Women. Friends is a non-profit 501(c)(3) organization, a group of volunteers who make up the fundraising arm of the new Women's Commission. Since 1977, Friends has given financial support to the events and activities of the Commission. Through the years, Friends has also published information and sponsored educational events as a community service.

What are the plans for Friends ?

Friends will continue to sponsor the annual "Women and Money" Conference. Friends' support, as well as financial support from various institutions in town, allow women in our community to attend sessions to learn more about taking control of their finances with information on budgeting, credit reduction and long-term planning.

We are also continuing WomenTalk on 5-City TV - Cable Channel 5. These hour-long programs deal with vital women's issues. In keeping with the promotion of women and economics, programs have discussed entrepreneurship, planning for the future, credit and Social Security. We hope you will tune in to Channel 5 and watch. Each segment airs several times a week and runs for two months.

Friends will support additional activities that the Commission deems vital to the women in our community.
